

PSYCG 1527 : Personality Assessment II: Projective Techniques

This course provides the clinical psychology student with instruction and practice in the administration, scoring, and interpretation of the projective techniques including the Rorschach, TAT, and projective drawings. The course addresses relevant cultural, ethnic, gender, and disability factors in considering interpretation of results and in the development of integrative report writing.

College

Clinical Psychology Program

Credits 4.0Prerequisites

PSYCG 1572 Psychopathology: Anxiety-based and Personality Disorders; PSYCG 1573 Psychopathology: Psychotic and Mood Disorders