

PSYCG 1581 : Professional Development

This lecture course is meant to prepare students for didactic and clinical experiences in the Program. The course will focus on graduate students' rights and responsibilities, professional behavior and expectations, difference between administrative and clinical supervision, and peer mentorship. This course will also introduce students to the Comprehensive Assessment Method in Psychology (CAMP), including profession-wide competencies in Clinical Psychology, and how they relate to field training experiences. (Previously Intro to Clerkship).

College

Clinical Psychology Program

Credits 1.0